The Department of Architecture at the University of Washington, an internationally recognized professional school offering B.A., M.Arch, and MS degrees, and participating in a college-wide Ph.D., announces the following search for a full-time nine-month tenure-track position at the assistant professor rank. This appointment is scheduled to commence in Autumn, 2007.

ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN & COMPUTATION

Applications are invited from individuals whose research and scholarship bridge the areas of Computation and Design. The successful applicant will be expected to contribute to the exploration of digital design within the B.A. and M.Arch. design studio programs, as well as to establish and pursue a research focus in an area of design computing (fabrication, simulation, information modeling & representation, interaction, design cognition, etc). S/he will be expected to lead studios exploring aspects of architecture and computing, teach lecture and seminar courses in design computing topics, and work with students in the professional (M.Arch.), post professional (M.S.) and doctoral (Ph.D.) programs. As a member of the Design Machine Group, the successful applicant will be expected to participate in this research lab and collaborate in the conduct of research contributing to the expansion of the field.

Candidates must have at least a professional (M.Arch) degree in architectural design and significant professional or academic experience in computing. Of particular interest are candidates who demonstrate design excellence and who will work with current faculty in both design and computing. Salary will be commensurate with experience.

Review of applications begins January 7, 2007.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

Applications must be in an 8.5 x 11 inch or A4 format, and include the following:

- Current curriculum vitae
- A short statement of interest outlining teaching, research and/or practice interests (2 pp max.)
- Preliminary evidence of teaching/creative achievement/research (10 pp max.)
- Names, addresses, phone/fax numbers and email of at least three references

Send completed applications to the following address:
